NEWS BY THE MAILS.

News from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.

CAPT. WIRZ'S BODY.

The statements to the effect that the remains of Capt. Wirz had been exhumed from their place of burial in the Arsenal grounds, and had been forwarded to the friends of the deceased in Richmond, are wholly without foundation.—The grave of Wirz is undisturbed.

FIVE CENT CURRENCY.

The new five cent currency will be issued next week. About $80,000 worth of defaced and mutilated currency is destroyed by burning, per day, and $50,000 worth printed. Arrangements are nearly completed to make the amount of the latter to the former.

CAPT. SEMMES.

The arrival here of Semmes, of the Alabama, who was arrested at Montgomery, Ala., on the 16th, is hourly looked for. Secretary Welles has ordered that Captain Semmes be tried by court martial for violating the laws of war in a number of instances, and more especially when he hoisted the white flag on the Alabama, and then refused to surrender himself and engaging in war again without being exchanged.

NEW YEAR AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Arrangements are being made for the New Year's reception of the President. A new carpet in the East room has been procured, and the master mechanic was at the Executive Mansion this morning for the purpose of commencing the erection of a platform from the north windows of the East room to the pavement, so as to enable the visitors to pass through the apartments without blocking up the passages.

THE NATIONAL BANKS.

Up to the present date, sixten hundred and twenty four national banks have organized, with an aggregate capital of four hundred and eight million four hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The whole amount of registered United States bonds is two hundred and ninet-six millions of dollars.

It is understood that the recommendations of Freeman Clark, Comptroller of Currency, for extending the capital of the national banks to four hundred millions, will be brought up for the approval of Congress, that the banks in the Southern States may have their quotas under the law.

GENERAL GRANT.

The statement telegraphed from Washington that General Grant was about to sail for the Rio Grande in the flag ship of the Gulf squadron is without authority. The General simply designs visiting New Orleans for the purpose of inspecting the army under Sheridan, and so far from sailing in Commodore Winslow's flag ship at once, will not leave for some time to come. Owing to the pressing duties requiring his attendance in Washington, he has not yet determined how soon he will visit New Orleans, and when he does go it will be by the most expeditious route.

PARDONS.

For the first time since the surrender of Lee's army, no pardon warrants were issued by the Attorney General to day. The applications for pardon have almost ceased to be made, and the President is disposing of the cases in the custody of the State Department, with a prospect of completing the pardon business by spring. A few pardon brokers and friends of petitioners for amnesty call from day to day at the President's house and on the Attorney General, but the pressure for pardons has very materially diminished, the parties directly interested having returned to their homes.

SENATOR CRAGIN'S PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The following is the full text of the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, introduced into the Senate by Senator Cragin, of New Hampshire, on the day of the adjournment. Its aim is to kill forever the heresy of State sovereignty.

Paramount sovereignty shall reside within the United States; and every citizen thereof, in of any State or Territory therein, shall be bound and primarily owe faith, loyalty and allegiance to the United States, anything in the Constitution, laws, or the ordinances of any State, to the contrary notwithstanding; and every State heretofore in the Union, or which may hereafter be admitted as a member thereof, shall forever remain and constitute a part of the United States, and shall not, under any circumstances whatever, have any right to secede or withdraw therefrom.

POST OFFICE AFFAIRS.

The Post-office Department to-day awarded contracts for services on fifty routes in Virginia and West Virginia. These routes, for which offers have been made since the regular biddings two months ago, will cover nearly the whole of these States, not then awarded, with immediate postal facilities. Mail service in North Carolina is in greatly increased demand, and a number of offices are being made. To-day upwards of thirty routes were let. All these services will go into operation on New Year's day.

Contracts for service in South Carolina, Georgia and other States, are also being freely disposed of in the appointment office, with a corresponding reopening of post-offices in every Southern and Southwestern State. The number of such distribution may be set down at two hundred per week. Yesterday Virginia, Louisiana, Texas, Kentucky and Tennessee shared largely.

THE INDIAN TRIBES.

Recent reports concerning the disposition of the various Indian tribes with whom the Government has of late entered into treaty compact, represent a favorable aspect, and perfect confidence exists of a secure and lasting peace hereafter.—The parties who made the attack on Butterfield's mail coach a short time ago, had not been advised of the treaties which had been made.

An excellent profile portrait of the President, designed for distribution among those of the Indian Chiefs who observe strictly the character and obligations of their treaties with the Government, have been executed in silver by Mr. Paquet, and is pronounced a work of great artistic skill and merit. There has been, since the formation of the Government, a periodical appropriation, usually, about once in four years, for the above object, and it is a significant fact that there is no knowledge of any Chief who has thus been favored ever having broken the treaty obligations.

NEW GOODS.

New Line Opened! Makes Two Trips to the Old Line's One!

A. CREECH HAS JUST RETURNED FROM the North, where he has bought his second supply of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

Embracing the various New Styles of the Season, together with Ladies' Cloaks, Long Shawls, Breakfast Shawls, Ladies and Misses' Goods, Ladies and Misses' Hoop Skirts, Ladies and Misses' Balmoral Shoes, Gent's Boots and Shoes, Boys, Youths and Children's Boots and Shoes. Felt Hats, the Derby the Dasher, the Planter's wide brim, and other styles for Men's wear. Boys, Youths and Children's Hats. Wood and Willow Ware, Crockery and Glass Ware, and a superior lot of Family Groceries.

Take my stock altogether, I have one among the largest and most desirable and complete stocks of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods in the City.

Now, allow me to say that I bought my Goods to sell, and they must and shall be sold; but I don't expect to take a piece of poetry in one hand and a full grown humbug in the other and climb up to the clouds and fish out the birds of Paradise and gently bring them down with a placard stuck on their backs, "Selling out at Cost!" selling out at cost!" No, I deal in no such humbug. I keep no such a class of Goods. I keep no time worn, shelf-rubbed, defaced or dusty Goods—dust so thick you can rub it off with a knife. My Goods are all new, and of good styles, and I intend to sell them as low as anybody that buys at goods with the expectation of paying for them, and the man that sold the goods to the man that don't intend to pay for them, is a fool—and the man that sells them is a rascal. Now this is plain talk, but 'tis no sip of the tongue. I mean what I say, and say what I mean. I have lived here and sold goods here for twenty years. I expect to remain here. I pay my taxes to support Institutions of the City, County and the State. I expect to continue to do so. I respectfully ask my old customers, my old friends and new ones to call and examine my stock. I will deal with you honest and treat you right. If I don't sell you goods as cheap as you can buy the same class of goods elsewhere I don't expect you to buy. Call at the R. Smith building, house formerly occupied by Creech & Litchford, Merchants and Auctioneers.

" six months,	5 00
" one month	1 00
" two months	2 00

THE PEOPLE must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union.—Andrew Johnson's Letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Missis ppi.

To the Patrons of the Sentinel.

Up to this period, the Editor of the Sentinel has been compelled to perform the duties of editor, proof reader, &c., and attend generally to the business of the office. Hence the labor has been performed under great disadvantages and not to his liking. He therefore congratulates himself and his readers upon his success, in securing the assistance of SEATON GALES, Esq., whose ability and experience give assurance of the necessary "aid and comfort," and who as the reader perceives, enters to-day upon his duties.

Mr. Gales is too well known throughout the State, as the editor of the late Raleigh Register, to require any commendatory notice from us.—While we expect by this arrangement to effect a marked improvement in the paper, our readers may be assured that its general character, politically, will be preserved.

All that is necessary to be said by the undersigned, in assuming his Editorial connection with the Sentinel, may be comprehended in a very few words.

Properly appreciating, he trusts, the dignity and responsibility of the position, and its instrumentality for good or evil,—especially at a time like the present, when the Press is looked up to for wholesome counsel and co-operation in the work of re-building our shattered social and political fortunes,—he promises to employ his best energies for the promotion of the welfare and prosperity of North Carolina, and the restoration of the union of the States. Whilst his views as to the best method of attaining these desirable ends, in the speediest and most successful manner, are positive and decided, he is conscious of no consideration, personal or political, that can or shall interfere with their entirely dispassionate presentation. Reminiscences of a former editorial experience convince him, that the discussion of political questions without acerbity and with an entire avoidance of personalities, is most acceptable to the public and alike conducive to the usefulness of a journal and the self-respect of its conductors; and accordingly, it is his earnest hope, as it shall be his careful endeavor, so to bear himself in his new relations as to be able to combine independence and boldness with perfect amenity and courtesy.

Merely adding that the uniform course of the Sentinel, since its establishment, meets his warm approval and indicates his political convictions, and, invoking a charitable criticism, he will leave the public to pass judgment upon the manner in which he may acquit himself in the future.

SEATON GALES.

January 1st, 1866.

The Weekly Sentinel.

The Weekly Sentinel will be issued about the 9th of January. Our friends will please send in their orders for it at once.

The semi-weekly we design issuing as soon as our list will justify it. In the mean time those who order the semi-weekly will be supplied with the Daily or Weekly as they prefer, until the semi-weekly is issued.

To Our Friends.

The time of many of our subscribers will expire on the 1st of January next. Many of these have not paid us up yet. We need the money much, but the great scarcity of money and the uncertainty of the mails lead us to change our purpose to begin the cash system promptly on the 1st of January, and to rely upon the promptness and fidelity of our patrons to pay as soon as possible. All therefore who wish to change the Daily to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly or who wish to continue the Daily will please inform us by the 8th of January at farthest.

Those who do not pay up or let us hear from them by the 8th of January, will be stricken from our list, and their bills will be forwarded soon after.

Those who desire the Daily, Semi-Weekly or Weekly will please order them at once. If not convenient or safe to send the cash, it can be sent us by the members to the Legislature on the 1st Monday in February. In the meantime we shall be obliged to those who owe us for advertising or the paper to send us the cash.

Gov. Worth's Address.

The address or circular of Gov. Worth to the people of the State, will be found to be highly important, and its contents should be as rapidly spread among the people, as possible. The press offers to him the only method of doing so promptly, and editors will give it the earliest publication

Some slight inconvenience will be experienced a short time for the want of proper officials to execute the laws, but the remedy will be applied at an early day by the Legislature, which it is understood will be convened at the earliest period. The confidence reposed in the people by the Executive, will we trust be reciprocated by the strictest observance of quiet and decorum throughout the State.

We thought we were to have peace when Gov. Worth came into office, but the above from the Sentinel of the 29th, Gov. Worth's organ, shows a determination to continue strife. (1)

Gov. Worth comes with a taunt. His organ assumes what is not true, that it was "twitted" into uttering the above, and it then "improves the occasion" by endeavoring to show what extraordinary wisdom has marked its course as a partizan journal. We should offer no objection to the self-satisfied air of our cotemporary, or the laudation with which it lathers itself, if the impression it thereby seeks to produce as to the present status of the State were correct. It is not true, as the Sentinel would have its readers believe, that the State has been restored to the Union. The State is no more restored than it was under Gov. Holden. There are various sorts of fibs; the fib selfish, the fib direct, the fib malicious, the fib by insinuation, the fib by concealment, and the fib indirect. Our cotemporary has perpetrated the latter. (2)

The Sentinel says the election of Mr. Worth as Governor has not delayed the return of the State to the Union. But President Johnson says it has. The Sentinel makes no reply to this declaration by the President, but like the Irishman's owl, it "kapes up a divil of a thinking." It would denounce the President, if it dared.—But the time has not yet come for that. It will come. (3)

The Sentinel says it knew the election of Mr. Worth could do the State no harm. The answer is, has it done the State any good? We have had feuds, and strife, and ill-feeling in the State, ever since the Editor of the Sentinel and a few other leaders brought out Mr. Worth for Governor; and the tone of the Sentinel indicates that we are to have no peace hereafter. Who is to blame for this? (4.)

If Gov. Holden had been elected without opposition, and if nine members of Congress had been chosen like Mr. Pool, the State of North Carolina would have been restored to her full privileges as a member of the Union by the first of February next. There is no doubt of it.—Who, then, is to blame for keeping the State from the enjoyment of these privileges? The answer is, the Editor of the Sentinel and other politicians of his stamp, who preferred their own ambitious and selfish ends to the good of their country. (5)
Standard.

1. The short article which has called forth the above ill-natured reply, our readers must generally have regarded it, as it was intended, as simply humorous, and not designed to provoke any reply from the Standard. The Standard began the strife, as we are ready to prove before any jury of twelve honest men it might select, and if it is kept up, that paper shall be to blame for it.

2. We have neither said nor sought to produce the impression "that the State has been restored to the Union." No remark of ours has misled any one upon that subject. We simply designed to intimate, that the election of Mr. Worth had not kept the State out of the Union any more or longer than the election of Gov. Holden would. It seems to us and did from the beginning, that no one but a simpleton, could expect that the mere election of Gov. Holden or Gov. Worth either, could restore the State to the Union. Certainly, if the past record or present position of either, could have had any influence in the case, we felt sure that the State could not be damaged by the election of Mr. Worth. We think so still.

3. President Johnson speaks of "the results of the recent elections," and certainly does not refer to the election of Mr. Worth alone, if at all. But let it be remembered, that that telegram was drawn from the President while he was laboring under, what we regard, as erroneous impressions of the real character of the elections, which we are inclined to think subsequent information has modified. The Sentinel denounces no gentleman, much less our Chief Magistrate, how much so ever it may disapprove what he might say or do. When it denounces President Johnson he will have turned his back upon the principles he has avowed, since his elevation to his high position.

4. The Standard is alone to blame for the feuds and strife, and ill-feeling in the State.—We admonished it repeatedly before Mr. Worth's nomination, that its course would produce strife We strove to avoid any participation in the strife but the Standard would have it so.

5. We suppose the Standard really believes, that if Gov. Holden had been elected without opposition and nine such members of Congress as Mr. Pool, that the State would have been in the Union by the 1st of February next. We are sorry that our neighbor has so poor an opinion of the intelligence and virtue of the Congress.—Would North Carolina in that event have been any more entitled to it than Tennessee? Why is not Tennessee back again? Would North Carolina have been half as well off as Tennessee? She has a Governor who never was a "rebel," and all her members can take the "test oath."—North Carolina with Gov. Holden would have had as now, a so called "rebel" Governor, with not half such a Union record She has but one member who can take the oath. Mr. Pool cannot take it? How is it that Mr. Pool is more acceptable than any of her representatives? In what respect is he preferable to any of the rest? Is there one of them more of a "rebel" than he has been? We mean no disrespect to Mr. Pool.—We will derogate nothing from his real merits, but wherein is he better or more influential than any of the delegation? Congress understands the case, we presume fully as well as the Standard, and if that body has any thing to do with it, we are sure the restoration of the State will be effected fully as soon in our present status, as under the one which the Standard preferred. "There is no doubt of it."

Gen. Carl Schurz's Report.

Late Northern papers publish in extenso the voluminous report of Gen. Carl Schurz to the President on the condition of affairs in the Southern States, and no one who reads it can fail to be impressed with the marked contrast which it presents, both in its general statements and its deductions, to the brief and comprehensive report from Gen. Grant upon the same subject. The one is a mere essay, characterized by the shallow sophistries of the politician, and tinged with the theories of the radicals; the other is the frank and ingenuous exposition of the soldier, reasoning from observation, undistorted by partisan, social or sectional prejudice. Gen. Schurz has evidently prosecuted his mission, and thereby perverted its design, in the spirit which might be expected to actuate a propagandist of one of the red republican coteries of France and Germany, whose instructions were general, to find fault with existing things and discover a theatre for agitation and change. As he informs us, in his report, that the President stated to him that his policy of reconstruction was "merely experimental,' and that he would change it, if the experiment did not lead to satisfactory results, and as the President has not changed that policy, but, on the contrary, has latterly given us the best evidence of his convictions of its wisdom, by setting in motion, in the recently insurgent States, the machinery of civil government, we are happy to believe that he places the same estimate upon the conclusions of the author, which all other fair-minded men must do. In this, as in other instances, Mr. Johnson has commended himself to the confidence and affection of our people, as a statesman of profound practical sagacity, no less than as a man of enlarged and liberal inclinations.

We have no idea of inflicting upon our readers any of the details of this remarkable production, as we feel disposed, with the re-inauguration of our civil government, to view our relations, and have our people regard them, in their most promising aspects. We prefer simply, so far as we are concerned, to let the report fall into the hands of history, which will, in due time, put the proper mark upon it as the diseased emanation of a visionary and agitator.

We observe one remarkable declaration in the report in question, which will hardly accord with the ideas of the school, of which the author is a representative man. He observes that "a historical examination of the subject of political oaths, will lead to the conclusion that they have never insured the stability of a government and never improved the morals of a people." This is a view of the case, which with certain modifications, we cordially accept, and conveys a decided rebuke, however unpremeditated, to the advocates of the retention of the obnoxious test oath. We opposed the application of any such test during the days of the Confederacy, and looked upon such then, as we do now, as utterly subversive of the principles of constitutional liberty.

Gen. Schurz seems to dwell with some emphasis upon the circumstance that no case has come to his notice, in which the people of a city or rural district have "cordially" fraternized with the army. He has certainly read history to little purpose if he considers such a condition of things anomalous. We know of no instance, in the annals of the past, in which the conquered have welcomed the presence of the victor, save the perhaps isolated one of the entrance of the armies of Wellington into the craven capital of Spain.—We confess, for ourselves, that while no man surpasses us in the earnest desire to see amicable relations, social, commercial and political perfectly restored between all portions of our common country, and that country advanced to the grand destiny which awaits it as the govment of a free and united people, we should still have had less respect for our section and our species if our people had exhibited at once, that spirit, the absence of which Gen. Schurz so lustily deprecates. The "cordial" fraternization of which he speaks, must necessarily and naturally be the work of time. Never before surely, have the animosities engendered by a long and bloody strife so speedily disappeared. We are glad to see daily, in our own midst, the most gratifying evidences of their obliteration. If no stronger reason then, for keeping the people and States of the South under the ban can be afforded than this weak and flimsy one of Gen. Schurz, it will meet with its most prompt and indignant repudiation at the hands of those officers and men of the army in our midst, who, placed in the most delicate relations to our people, have yet experienced much of kindness and contracted many pleasant associations.

GEN. LEE'S RESIGNATION.—The Old Guard of New York publishes the following:

ARLINGTON, VA., April 20, 1861.

General—Since my interview with you on the 18th instant, I have felt that I ought not longer to retain my commission in the army. I therefore tender my resignation, which I request you will recommend for acceptance.—It would have been presented at once but for the struggle it cost me to separate myself from a service to which I have devoted all the best years of my life and all the ability I possessed.

During the whole of the time—more than a quarter of a century—I have experienced nothing but kindness from my superiors, and the most cordial friendship from my comrades. To no one, General, have I been as much indebted as to yourself for uniform kindness and consideration, and it has always been my ardent desire to merit your approbation. I shall carry to the grave the most grateful recollections of your kind consideration, and your name and fame will always be dear to me.

Save in defence of my native State, I never desire again to draw my sword. Be pleased to accept my most earnest wishes for the continuance of your happiness and prosperity, and believe me, most truly yours,

R. E. LEE.

Lieutenant General Winfield Scott, commanding U. S. Army.

The Georgia Legislature and President Johnson.

The following preamble and resolution, adopted by the General Assembly of Georgia on the last day of its recent session, were introduced in the Senate by the Hon. Lewis H. Kenan, of Milledgeville, who represents the twentieth Senatorial district of the State.

Whereas, it is one of the privileges, if not duties, of the General Assembly, convened under circumstances so peculiarly interesting and important to the future of Georgia and her people, now that it is about to adjourn over its session for a brief period, not to do so until it has given some expression of its high appreciation of the President of the United States, through whose justice and magnanimity, and through whose regard for the Constitutional rights of the States, civil government has again been put in motion at the capital of this State: Therefore

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Georgia in General Assembly met. That in Andrew Johnson, the Chief Magistrate of the American Republic, Georgia in her recent past, while yielding to a power she could not, successfully resist, and in her present condition moving onward in the work of reconstruction, has felt his sustaining arm, and will ever be grateful for the generous clemency extended by him to her people, the magnanimity displayed towards them, and the determined will that says to a still hostile faction of her recent foes: "Thus far shalt, thou go and no farther. Peace, be still."

GOV. [redacted] ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
Raleigh N. C., Dec. 30, 1865.

To the People of North Carolina:

I congratulate you on the discontinuance of the Provisional Government in this State, by order of the President of the United States, and the restoration of Civil Government. This announcement has diffused joy throughout the State. We are now under laws of our own enactment.

In the transition from military to civil government, happily for our country, our past history has furnished us with no precedents to guide us, and hence you will not expect that the whole machinery of the newly organized government will be in perfect order at the start; but in your joy at the return of the form of government to which you have been accustomed, I hope and believe all classes will strive to preserve order, the more because all officers necessary to enforce the laws have not been appointed. The General Assembly will soon convene and finish up the work of reorganization. Under existing laws, it is believed, that the powers of all officers appointed under the authority of the Provisional Government, ceased with the discontinuance of that Government.

Where clerks and sheriffs, elected in November last under the ordinance of the Convention, have been qualified, they have power to execute the duties of their offices.

As no Justices of the Peace were appointed by the General Assembly, it may happen in some of the counties, that the next term of the County Courts cannot be legally held; but where such Courts shall be held or other acts shall be done by such Provisional officers, their acts will probably be validated by an act of the General Assembly.

The Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts will be qualified without delay, and will hold the Courts at the times prescribed by law; and in the event of the commission of any high crime, upon proper information thereof, they will provide for the apprehension or detention of the offenders.

In the incorporated towns, where the Mayor and other officers were appointed by the Provisional Governor, these corporations can proceed, under their charter and corporate laws, to appoint others. In cases where these elections cannot be promptly held in strict conformity with such charters or laws, the election must be deferred for proper legislation; or irregular elections may be held in the expectation that such elections will be legalized.

The ordinance ratified 18th October last, provides that in all cases of appointments made by the Provisional Governor, of directors in any corporation, they shall continue until the regular election of its officers.

The ordinance of the Convention providing for the collection of Revenue, authorizes the Provisional Sheriffs, to carry out the same.—They derive their powers to collect these taxes from this ordinance, and their office, as to this duty, is not determined by the termination of the Provisional Government.

In a short time all these irregularities will be remedied by the General Assembly; and in the meantime, I am sure, you will maintain the enviable reputation of our people as to the observance of law and order, and prove how groundless is the calumny, that there are still among us persons who are disloyal to the Government of the United States.

We did not go voluntarily into the late calamitous rebellion. The action of coterminous States forced us to take sides in the strife. We elected to go with our section; and having taken our position, we acted with good faith to our associates and bore ourselves gallantly in the fight. Being vanquished we submit as becomes a brave people. The President, as commander-in chief of the military powers of the nation, magnanimously trusts us. I do not believe there is a citizen of the State, who is unworthy of this confidence.

I confidently rely on your cordial co operation in remedying the irregularities which embarrass the beginning of my administration.

JONATHAN WORTH,
Governor of N. C.

Description of Congress.

Bennett has no respect for the present Congress. The last New York Herald says:

"Ordinary men, they come from their country villages to the seat of government with all the passions, prejudices and narrow views of local politicians. They are full of the ideas and feelings of the war after it is over and fast becoming a matter of history. Events, with mighty strides, rush on like railroad cars, and leave them gazing in wonderment behind. They are bewildered, and flounder about in uncertainty, first one way and then another, not knowing rightly where they are. It is a pity they cannot be sent back to their constituencies to find out the change that has taken place. A year or so, however, is not long in the life of a nation, and the time will soon come round when they will be taught an impressive lesson. In the meantime we do not despair of the progress of the country; for President Johnson has the wisdom, power and firmness to carry us safely through, in spite of the unrepresentative Congress with which he may have to contend.

From Brazil.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The steamer North America, from Rio Janeiro Dec. 2, via Pernambuco and St. Thomas, arrived to day. The Emperor returned on the 9th ult. from Rio del Sud, causing great rejoicing. Coffee was lower; flour advancing.

The Paraguayans have withdrawn entirely across the Upper Parana out of Corrientes. The Brazilian fleet is at the mouth of the Paraguay. The allied army crossed the river to Corrientes, and was on the march to the Parana, near Gaza. It will be sent in vessels up that river to the point selected for further operations.

The American emigrants, chiefly Southerners, represented by Colonel Wood, was solicited a site for a town near Baraguora. It lies between two small rivers, and can have railway connection with the Capital.

A vast tract of 8,000,000 acres of unoccupied government land has also been selected. It is expected that the flow of emigration from the United States lately composing the Confederacy will soon set in.

SHERMAN AND JOE. JOHNSTON AT THE GAYOSO.—The Memphis Commercial of the 21st says:

For the first time since his deposition by Jefferson Davis, Joseph E. Johnston met General Sherman, evening before last, at the Gayoso House. It is needless to say that the greeting of these soldiers was kindly and cordial.

The principal part of the malice engendered by the war now remains among the cowardly stay-at-home politicians of the North. Washington Union.

And the Union might have added, the stay-at-home politicians of the South.—Sentinel.

It is reported that France has given to England six months to terminate the existing treaty, because of the strict formalities required by England before offenders against the French are given up.

FAYETTEVILLE N. C. MILITARY ACADEMY.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION have been resumed without the military feature, and an additional number of pupils will be received for the balance of the session, which will terminate 26 weeks from the 1st of January, 1866. The discipline and course of instruction will be the same as in similar schools, with the exception of a thorough course in the Ancient Languages, embracing Latin and Greek composition. In surveying and engineering the instruction will be both theoretical and practical. Arrangements will be made at an early day to secure a complete set of Chemical and Philosophical apparatus. No pains or expense will be spared to make this one of the best Schools in the country. The buildings are located on Haymount which overlooks the town of Fayetteville, and which is remarkable for the healthiness of the location, the beauty of the scenery, and the intelligence, refinement and high moral character of the people. There is almost daily connection between Wilmington and Fayetteville by steamboat, and this is suggested as the best route to the latter place from almost any quarter. Students will be received at any time, and will be charged from the date of entrance, though it will be best to enter about the 1st of January, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

SMALL POX.—We have heard but little of the progress of this disease recently in this section. Dr. Gardner has just called to see us, and informs us that the disease is spreading rapidly beyond the corporation. There are fifteen cases in the neighborhood of Mrs. Alsey Tucker's, about five miles from the city. Colored persons are found passing about from place to place with the disease on them. If this is not prevented the disease must spread throughout the country.

HIGH WATER.—The continued rains have swollen the rivers, and there appears to be no cessation. A good deal of rain fell on Friday night and Saturday, which must greatly increase the freshet.

Emigrants to Brazil.

Information has been received in New York from Brazil that a number of American emigrants chiefly Southerners, represented by Colonel Wood, had selected the site for a town near Raggnora.—It is expected that there will be a great flow of emigrants to this town from the late Confederate States.

Ann Story was married to Beb Short. A very pleasant way of making a Story Short.

VACCINE VIRUS.—We observe in the Richmond Medical Journal that Dr. Bolton, of the city of Richmond will furnish to the members of the profession, vaccine virus, which it will afford him pleasure to distribute. Each applicant will ransmit a stamp for prepayment of postage.

In this is disclosed the difference between the quack and the professional man. The first labors for money, and the latter for the good of mankind. Doctor Bolton illustrates this; and, as the Journal remarks, deserves much credit for his energy and liberality. We add for his enlarged humanity.—Norfolk Virginian.

The editor of the Richmond Observer says that though he sees nearly all the Southern religious papers, and meets with many Southern clergy, he has not seen a line or heard a word in favor of union between the Northern and Southern churches at present.

A Few Important Facts in Regard to the Southern Hepatic Pills.

1 They are prepared from the best quality of Medicine by the discoverer, now an aged minister of the Gospel, and are safe.

2 They have been known for years and tested by thousands in the South, and are specially adapted to the diseases of this climate.

3 Hundreds of persons are known to have been cured by them.

4 They are not recommended by the proprietor for everything, but only for diseases which arise from disordered livers.

5 Directions and certificates accompany each box, and these certificates are from well known and most respectable individuals.

6 Correspondents recommend them as good for Liver Disease, Chills and Fever, Pneumonia, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Bilious Fevers, Billious Rheumatism, Worms, Pluriisy, Bronchitis, Costiveness, Diarrhœa and Hepatic Consumption.

7 Several gentlemen state that the use of these Pills has been to them an annual saving of from $100 to $200.

8 Some Physicians of the highest standing prescribe them to their patients, and hundreds of boxes have been sold to regular practitioners.

☞ For sale by the Druggists. Directions accompanying each box. Sent to any part of the United States for $3 a dozen. Address, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newberne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A M, connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without charge.

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

Absut Chess.

Louis XIII, who detested games of chance, and would not allow them to be played at court, was so passionably addicted to chess that he played even when riding in a carriage. Each man had a pin in his foot, which being stuck into the padded chess board, resisted the jolting of the royal vehicle.

With some individuals the love of chess has been strong enough to counterbalance the fear of dying. John Frederick, Elector of Saxony made prisoner in 1547, by Charles V., was playing chess with his fellow captive, Ernest of Brunswick, when he received the news of his condemnation to death. After a few remarks on the irregularity of the Emperor's proceedings, he quietly continued his game. On winning it, he expressed his satisfaction, and then retired to devote himself to the religious exercises befitting his situation.

A Turkish spy, who had incurred the Sultan's displeasure, received his sentence to death while playing chess. The game was far advanced, the position interesting and he entreated the officers to let him finish. They consented, and he won. Then, after thanking them for their politeness he kissed the fatal document, and quietly submitted to his fate.

When a messenger informed Alamin Ben Haroun that the city of Bagdad was besieged, "Hold your tongue," said the caliph; "don't you see that I am on the point of giving a check mate?" The same potentate sought out the best players of his empire, bought them to court, and pensioned them. His father, Abdallah, III., used to bewail his estate in having more capacity for governing nations than for moving chessmen.

It is hard to believe that any one can ever have guessed less or made it out, when proposed as an enigma. Nevertheless, Borzu, otherwise called Izurdjemehir, for short, physician and vizier to Noushiwan I., and tutor to his son, Herzoudivined the secret.

King Hind sent to Borzu's royal master a chess-board, pieces, and a letter.

"O King," said, "may you live as long as the celestial spheres revolve in their orbits. I entreat you examine this chess-board, and set it before the eyes of the greatest scholars and sages in your kingdom. Let them carefully deliberate together, and discover if they can, the principle of this marvelous game. If you succeed in unraveling the mystery, I promise to acknowledge myself your master's tributary; if not, as it will be clear that you are our inferiors in knowledge, it is you who ought to pay the tribute. A man's veritable grandeur consists in his knowledge, and not in treasures of territory, which are only fleeting and perishable things."

All the court counselors and ministers set to work; but the enigma appeared insoluble. The seven days reflection required by the king had nearly passed when Borzu rose and undertook to discover by himself, the clue to it in a day and night. He shut himself up and tried each piece on the board, comparing the probable movements of each till the whole and complete truth flashed upon him. The court then assembled, King Hind's envoy was introduced, and Borzu gave a formal lecture on chess, explaining to his wondering audience the arrangement of the pieces and their march. Noushiwan, in recompense, loaded him with favors and dignities.

General J. E. B. Stuart.

From a sketch of this great cavalry officer, published in the New York News, we clip the following:

He laughed and danced, and made merry wherever he went. He would fight all day, and at night if circumstances permitted—ride ten miles, with his banjo player, and dance with a party of young girls till the "small hours."—If his fame had been great he would lean back on a sofa fall asleep in a moment, and wake to dance as gaily as before. A greater faculty for sleeping at will when he wished I never saw. Half the time a marches he slept in the saddle, and his adroitness in not falling was remarkable.—With one knee thrown over the pommel of the saddle, arms folded and chin resting on the breast, he would sleep mile after mile, and wake as much refreshed apparently as though he had risen from a good bed.

There was something of the cavalryman in everything Stuart did, as in his personal appearance and habits. It was seldom that he doffed his high boots even in winter quarters, and he invariably danced in his spurs. A pair made of solid gold and richly carved were presented to him; but these he only wore on extraordinary occasions. His sabre was a French one—slight, slender, pliable and light. This rarely left his side. He preferred horses of medium size, rather light—like mares—and would never have stallions. His horses "Skylark," "Star of the East," "Lady Margaret," "Lilly of the Valley," were all excellent. The equipments were all plain and good—a McClellan saddle, without leather covering, curb bit, and single rein, no martingale—behind the saddle a red blanket, rolled in an oilcloth, and on the pommel a cavalry cape and oilcloth overall. These are trifles, it may be said, but the world is made up of "trifles."

The General's seat in the saddle was not only good, it was perfect. His figure was short and heavy, but in the saddle he was the model of a cavalier. He seemed to "grow there." His person moved with the movements of his horse, so perfectly that horse and rider seemed one. He was an excellent swordsman, and would have been—nay, often was—a dangerous man in a charge. A regiment of men like Stuart, with the drawn sabre, would go through or over anything. It is certain at least that they would die trying.

IMPORTANT COMMUNICATION,

For the Times, and all Times, to be Considered.

The first stone in the structure of life insurance was laid by the hand of the Almighty when he planted in the human heart the generous impulses of love and affection, which prompt us to provide for our own; but the keystone is this law of average to secure which we bind ourselves together to bear each other's burdens, the stronger and richer, the longer lives must be, helping the weaker and poorer brother that is cut down in early life, and by the universal law of compensation it gives us either the blessings of a long life, or the pleasing assurance of leaving a competency to our loved ones, as the films of death are curtaining them from our sight forever.

Times like the present make most manifest the peculiar benefit of life insurance. Business is interrupted. Men are anxious for the future. Thousands have families growing up around them whose property depends upon the continuance of the father's life. Should he die, the income would cease; the children must be withdrawn from school; the mother and elder children must resort to every expedient to sustain the family; and, in many cases with the utmost exertion, this can not be done; the wife will return to her father for support, and the children, separated, must go the older to seek work, and the younger be distributed among friends. Such reverses befall men the least expecting them. While business is active, and prosperity gives exhiliration and hope, men can hardly be made to feel that they are within a hand's breadth of utter reverse, and that their families may be scattered in a month, by the death of the father. But hard times lead men to think of these things.

Now if a man has insured a sum of one, five or ten thousand dollars upon his life, this anxiety is removed. While he lives he can support his family. If he dies, ample provision is made for them.

It is every man's duty to provide for his family. That provision must include its future contingent condition. That provision, so far as it is material men ordinarily seek to secure by their own accumulations and investments. But all these are uncertain. The man rich to-day, is, from causes beyond his reach, poor to-morrow. A war in China a revolution in Europe, a rebellion in America, overrule ten thousand fortunes in every commercial community. But, in life insurance there are no risks or contingencies. Other investments may fail. A house may burn down. Banks may break. Bonds and mortgages may be seized for debt, and all property may fall into the bottomless gulf of bankruptcy. But money secured to your family by life insurance will go to them without fail or interruption, provided you have selected a sound and honorable insurance company. Of two courses, one of which may leave your family destitute, and the other of which assures them a comfortable support at your decease, can there be a doubt which is to be chosen?"

The benefits of life insurance are not confined to a provision for families, but are as numerous as the various circumstances of individuals. It enables a person to make a provision for a wife, a parent, a child, a friend or domestic, depending on him, and he lives secure, that while his industry is providing for their support, his savings are effectually guarding them against want in the event of his death, thus doing his whole duty toward them instead of only one half of it.

It enables a person to raise money on loans where real security can not be offered, to provide for the prompt payment of his debts in the case of his death, and to secure the eventual payment of doubtful debts.

By it a charitable individual may donate a legacy to some beneficent institution; or a congregation a support to their minister's family in case of his death.

It provides means to reimburse the sum expended in the purchase of any life estate, on the death of the person during whose life it is held; to remove incumbrances, payable on events connected with the termination of life; and secures the return of money paid for education, for capital embarked in business, or other advances made for children or others, in the event of their premature death; and, generally it affords a certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss whatsoever, to which one individual may become subject, by reason of the death of another.

It is a subject, then, which concerns the poor as well as the rich, the man living on his income, the mechanic, the farmer, the professional man, the merchant—in short all classes of the community.

Surely, such an institution deserves the countenance, the consideration and support of all reflecting men, and is doubly recommended, when it is considered how very small a sacrifice of some personal gratification, will secure, by its means, the independence and happiness of a family.
